

The Final Term English Language Exam

Part One: Reading.

(15 points)

A. Comprehension.

(08 points)

Read the text carefully and answer the questions that follow:

Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) play an indispensable role in addressing humanitarian and developmental challenges worldwide. Operating independently from government influence, NGOs tackle issues such as poverty alleviation, human rights advocacy, and environmental conservation. Their efforts are often bolstered by voluntary contributions, grants, and partnerships with international organizations. Despite their altruistic missions, NGOs sometimes face scrutiny regarding transparency, accountability, and efficiency. Nevertheless, their unwavering commitment to social justice continues to impact millions positively.

NGOs come in various forms, from small grassroots organizations working within local communities to large international bodies like Amnesty International and Médecins Sans Frontières. Their projects range from disaster relief and medical assistance to education and gender equality advocacy. By filling gaps where governments or private sectors fall short, NGOs often act as catalysts for change, providing a voice to marginalized populations and advocating for policy reforms. However, they also face operational and financial constraints, relying heavily on donor funding, which can sometimes lead to compromises in their independence and effectiveness.
